ABOUT ME

I am a Frontend Developer with six months of experience, proficient in HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript, React, Git, and GitHub. In this short span, I have honed my skills and contributed to projects that showcase my ability to build responsive and dynamic web applications.

PROJECTS

Netflix

Streaming Media Company

I have built a Netflix clone website that showcases movie details using The Movie Database (TMDB) API. It also includes user authentication powered by Firebase, allowing users to create accounts and log in seamlessly.

YouTube

Video Sharing Company

I have built a YouTube clone web app using React JS, integrating the YouTube Data API to fetch video lists and display real-time video statistics.

Resturant

UI / UX Design

I built a modern, responsive application from Figma designs using React, with a well-structured component-based architecture. I implemented CSS flexbox and grid for layout, followed the BEM methodology for maintainable styling, and ensured full responsiveness with optimized media queries.
